Conference

WHAT IS THE LES CONFERENCE?

The Local Energy Solutions (LES) Conference, hosted by Clean Energy NH (CENH), is New Hampshire's premier clean energy event - the only statewide gathering that unites municipal leaders, policymakers, industry experts, nonprofits, and passionate community members under one roof.

Each year, LES sparks connection and collaboration through in-depth sessions and forward-thinking dialogue on the state's most pressing energy issues. Whether you're a seasoned energy professional or a local decision-maker seeking solutions, LES is where innovation meets implementation. From policy discussions to networking with the people driving New Hampshire's energy future, the LES Conference is where clean energy conversations become action.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The 2025 LES Conference will feature four tracks and eight panels and discussions that dive into the most pressing and promising areas of New Hampshire's clean energy landscape.

From state policy shifts to real-world examples of microgrids, energy storage, and decarbonization in action, LES tackles the full spectrum of issues shaping our future. This year's sessions include deep dives into resilient infrastructure, project acceleration, and community-led change. Attendees will explore new approaches to heating and cooling, creative energy retrofits and how solar endures after the ITC. With sessions on post-IRA project financing and an EV roadmap for municipalities, businesses, and drivers alike, LES is the go-to event for navigating the energy transition.

This is more than a conference - it's a platform for turning ideas into action, built for the changemakers, decision-makers, and innovators driving New Hampshire's energy transition.
